

To whom this may concern,

I am pleased to write to you in regards to the quality of character Mr. Eligio Espinoza radiates. Having known Mr. Espinoza for over seventeen months, and living under his roof for the past six, numerous occasions have arisen where I was impressed with his deep and diverse knowledge base across multiple fields.

Most notably, his training, self-taught and from ITT Technical Institute in Fort Lauderdale, FL, has proven very helpful in my life. After spending countless hours comparing and debating over different laptops for purchase online, I was left frustrated, confused and helpless. Having approached him with my dilemma, he asked me a few simple questions that were pertinent in deciding what my priorities were regarding the machine to be invested in. Explaining to me, in layman's terms, what it is that I would need in a laptop to accomplish what I wanted at the moment, as well as in the future, I was able to make a sound decision. The laptop, with his guidance in maintenance, still services all my needs perfectly. Also, I was able to acquire it at a price in the lower end of my purchase range.

After spending great hours of discussion regarding topics from culinary art (he is an executive chef), to home repair (he does all his repairs), to politics, it has become abundantly clear that he is well researched in a vast number of schools of thought, and keeps current with the times. Frequently, he hosts study sessions, where he prepares exciting meals, all the while controlling group focus so that the tasks at hand are kept in sight. These sessions, although heated in discussion, are kept intellectual, as well as respectful. Regardless of whom he is working with, he exhibits patience, courtesy, and takes in what they are attempting to communicate. These principles are obviously of deep importance to him, and it is refreshing to know that there are still individuals in this fast paced world that value listening to what someone is saying, rather than focusing on a brusque retort.

I cannot imagine a department of any company that could find him less than invaluable. His mettle, insights and ardor easily inspire others to excel in situations where they may otherwise have delivered an insufficient product.

Thank you for your time and feel free to contact me with any questions or concerns,
